

'Forced' Solution On Rails

Labor Chief Puts Blame At Both Doors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz says the four-year-old dispute over railroad work rules is headed toward a compulsory solution because both the carriers and the unions are guilty of "a failure of responsibility."

"There is no affirmative attempt by either side in this situation to do anything about settling it even at this hour," Wirtz said Sunday as a special presidential panel prepared to sift the facts in the jobs tangle.

"There has been at this point an apparent assumption by both parties that somebody else, the government, the Congress, whoever it may be, is going to decide this," the secretary said in a televised interview.

Still, Wirtz added, he hopes that "when both of these parties are looking down the gun barrel" of possible congressional action, "there is going to be a real facing up to the implications of the fact that if they don't settle, the prospect is something which will weaken the whole institution of collective bargaining."

Wirtz is chairman of the special committee that begins today to lay the basis for a report President Kennedy plans to send to Congress July 22 aimed at solving the rules dispute. Wirtz refused to say whether the administration would recommend compulsory arbitration.

Carrier and union representatives will be standing by as the panel meets today, ready for questioning on specific points. Tuesday the committee will hold separate and joint sessions with the two sides, hoping to begin writing a report for Kennedy on Wednesday.

Over the weekend, Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said they were opposed to legislation that would require compulsory arbitration of the dispute.

Traffic Light Need Strongly Emphasized

Following an editorial in The Democrat-Capital Sunday captioned "Menace on Limit Avenue," Mayor L. M. Studer today released a letter to Frank L. Stuckey, traffic engineer for the State Highway Commission, indicating the Sedalia city administration is settling to bring about a revision of the Highway Department thinking on the traffic situation on South Limit.

The Mayor's letter was dated July 10, concerning a traffic light at 16th and Limit. The Mayor stated, in his letter:

"This matter has been under correspondence with your office since Aug. 8, 1962, and on previous occasions you have advised that our request (for traffic control at 16th and Limit) has been declined because the traffic count conducted at this location still falls short of a traffic signal warrant."

"I should like for you to see a letter dated July 8, 1963, attached hereto, from one of our prominent citizens in Sedalia, who wants to know how could his car be counted in traffic count, because he does not enter this area with his car, because of the traffic hazard involved at this location."

"We are quite sure that there are a great many drivers who will not drive their cars into this area because of the same reason that Mr. Hausam avoids it, and we think that this will clearly illustrate the necessity for traffic signals at this intersection."

The mayor said he has received many other complaints concerning the South Limit situation.

In the past couple of years, lake traffic from the west has adopted a habit of detouring via Thompson Blvd. to 16th, to avoid the congestion at Broadway and Limit, and some of the lake traffic has gone so far as to use Clarendon Road from 16th to 32nd to further avoid the South Limit congestion.

This has created a dust hazard resulting in numerous complaints from residents of West Sedalia. The mayor added that he hopes the Highway Department will take a new look at the situation and come up with a suitable answer.

Youths Admit They Robbed Area Places

Pair Is Caught In Chase South Of Boonville

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Two youths, apprehended south of Boonville Sunday night after a high-speed chase on Interstate 70, have admitted several armed robberies in central Missouri, the Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the youths were Dean E. McCollum, 18, and his brother, Jim McCollum, 17, of Cedar City, Mo. Officers said a small suitcase found in the trunk of their car contained several firearms and a large amount of ammunition.

The youths were taken to the Cole County jail at Jefferson City. Troopers said the boys admitted the $2,200 holdup of the Holiday Inn at the Lake of the Ozarks July 4. They also admitted the robbery of a drug store, service station and motel in Columbia in which over $300 was taken; a service station at Eldon, Mo., where $185 was taken, and six burglaries in Jefferson City, the patrol reported.

After receiving a tip Patrol Sgt. C. C. Maddox and Trooper C. L. Meyer went to the McCollum home in Cedar City Sunday afternoon and were informed the boys had left town. A pickup order was broadcast to all stations.

Trooper Bill Smith spotted the boys' car on Interstate 70 and gave chase. He radioed ahead to trooper D. M. Terhune who helped stop the car and arrest the McCollum brothers.

Confusion Into Identity Of Red Spy

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet Embassy spokesman today injected an element of confusion regarding the identity of the Russian master spy who defected to the West 18 months ago.

In an unusual conversation, he told reporters that a man named Alexander Dolynitsyn worked at the Soviet Embassy in 1961 but that he was not a defector and is actually living in Moscow.

The British government last week circulated a notice to British editors describing the defector by that name. U.S. security agents in Washington were said to be angry because the defector's identity came to light.

A Foreign Office spokesman at a news conference declined to discuss whether the Americans were upset at the way the British handled the Dolynitsyn case.

The spokesman also refused to say whether Dolynitsyn was on the diplomatic list when he served in the embassy for nine months beginning in January, 1961.

Whatever the defector's name is, there seems no question but that the West regards him as a valuable man. There have been hints that he is being elaborately protected.

The Sunday telegraph said without attribution that the defector is expected to give evidence to Lord Denning's inquiry into security aspects of the Profumo affair.

Disgraced War Minister John Profumo shared the favors of playgirl Christine Keeler with the former assistant Soviet naval attaché Yevgeny Ivanov.

Ivanov, now back in Russia, reportedly is in disgrace himself. Ivanov and Dolynitsyn were at the embassy at the same time.

Face-Saving End Seen To Red Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—Diplomats predict the Soviet and Communist Chinese negotiators will conclude their deadlocked ideological talks soon with a meaningless face-saving communiqué assuring that time will heal the differences in the Communist camp.

The seriousness of the split between the Communist giants was emphasized by publication Saturday of a 35,000-word Soviet Communist party statement accusing the Chinese of being hypocrites and warmongers bent on a nuclear war with the West.

The Soviet statement, an open letter to the Communist parties of the world, was an official reply to the Chinese attack June 14 on Premier Khrushchev's policy of spreading communism by living in peace with the West. It was spread over four pages of the party newspaper Pravda.

Pravda also published the Communist Chinese letter, disclosing to the Soviet people for the first time the extent of the historic breach in the Communist movement.

The Soviet statement vigorously restated Moscow's opposition to Peking's hard line and defended Khrushchev's arguments that communism can overcome capitalism through peaceful competition.

Russian and Chinese delegates have been meeting here since Jan. 5, ostensibly to settle their ideological differences. But statements from the two Communist parties have made clear that neither side has given any ground and that the talks have had no chance of producing a significant agreement.

There was no immediate public response from Peking to the Soviet attack. But a long article in the official Peking People's Daily today underlined the unyielding stand taken by the Chinese.

Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., said he wrote the President there is increasing opposition in Missouri to the administration's present policy on acquisition of land for projects handled by the Army Engineers.

He asked that the previous land acquisition regulations be permitted for the Kaysinger project.

The previous regulation required that land be acquired in fee to the elevation of the five-year frequency of flooding above the permanent pool.

Governor To Hold Meet On Cambridge

Racial Problem Still Gripping Maryland City

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Officials of this racially scarred city of 12,200 meet with Gov. J. Millard Tawes in the state capital of Annapolis today to discuss their problems.

An invitation from the governor to confer in his Annapolis office was accepted immediately by Cambridge officials.

The meeting was set for 3 p.m. Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray said he expected about 20 persons to make the 60-mile trip to the capital.

Semiparalyzed by racial strife and a resultant military clampdown, officials of the Southern-oriented city had asked the governor to come here quickly for discussions of its problems.

They said they wanted to talk to Tawes about the hardships imposed by militia law, invoked after six white persons were wounded in a wave of violence last week.

Mayor Calvin W. Mowbray and other officials got off their wire to the governor with 400 National Guardsmen posted at trouble spots and business plummeting.

The National Guard leaders, among other things, decreed a 9 p.m. off-the-streets curfew, a 7 p.m. closing hour for all commercial establishments, and a total ban on sale of alcoholic drink.

Members of the City Council, County Commission and the area's state legislative delegation met Sunday and drafted the wire.

Dr. Arthur Parker, president of the City Council, said: "The restrictions imposed by the National Guard are being used to penalize the majority in our county for the faults of the few—Negro and white."

"It is time for our elected officials to seize the offensive. The image of Cambridge cannot be marred any more than it has been."

Even starts its campaign for their support. Goldwater, who was not named in the statement, made no immediate response. But associates said they interpreted Rockefeller's attack as a declaration of war they were certain the senator would accept, even though he remains an unannounced belligerent.

They added that if Goldwater is writing off the industrial North as Rockefeller is giving up, the New York governor is charged up on New York governor's chances to collect electoral votes in the South.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., a Goldwater rooster, chided Rockefeller. He said it is "no time for anger or name-calling among Republicans."

"Sen. Goldwater is the leading candidate because he squarely challenges the New Frontier ideology and performance," Curtis said. "He is not a sectional candidate."

Rockefeller's blast is regarded in Washington as the opening gun of a vigorous comeback campaign for the nomination. He was considered by many observers the leading contender until his recent marriage to a divorced mother of four children.

In the period between his reelection as governor last year and his remarriage, Rockefeller tried with some success to warm up

Khrushchev Opens Meeting On Limited Nuclear Tests

Harriman and Red Boss 'Off to a Good start'

MOSCOW (AP)—Jovial and apparently optimistic, Premier Khrushchev personally opened talks today on a limited nuclear test ban agreement with special envoys of President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Harriman shoved a pencil and pad across the table toward Khrushchev. Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko grinned to his chief and said: "Sign it and leave it to be filled in."

The conference is expected to last 10 days.

Khrushchev's mood seemed to share the optimism of both the British and Americans about the success in agreeing on a prohibition which would bar nuclear test explosions in the air, in space and under water.

The Western side saw no prospect of getting a complete ban to cover underground explosions also.

Increasing the prospects for an agreement was the worsening split between the Soviet Union and Red China, Westerners here believed.

News photographers were allowed to enter the conference room before the actual talks began to take pictures of the negotiators.

The conference began with nine representatives on the U.S. and British side and five on the Soviet side.

Both Western and Communist circles seemed optimistic about chances of agreeing on a ban of nuclear tests in the air, in space and under water.

Such a pact could be readily policed because nuclear explosions under any of these conditions can be detected from great distances. It would also outlaw the tests which produce radioactive nuclear fallout.

Khrushchev in a speech in East Berlin July 2 approved a Western proposal for an unpoliced partial ban. Underground tests were exempted to avoid the thorny issue of on-site inspection.

At the time Khrushchev approved a partial test ban, he received the Soviet proposal for a non-aggression treaty between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Communist Warsaw Pact alliance. He said the test ban and the non-aggression pact should be signed simultaneously, but U.S. officials were not sure that he was making a non-aggression treaty the price of a test ban.

Western observers expected the opening round of the secret three-power talks at the Kremlin would clarify whether Khrushchev would insist on the two treaties as a package deal.

Wallace Raps Kennedy On Rights Issue

Nation On Brink Of Civil Warfare, Governor Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. George Wallace of Alabama said today that inept handling of racial problems by the Kennedy administration has resulted in "a nation torn by strife and turmoil on the brink of civil warfare."

Wallace who failed in his "schoolroom door" stand against integration at the University of Alabama, said that if Congress passes a public accommodations bill, "You should make preparations to withdraw all our troops from Berlin, Viet Nam and the rest of the world because they will be needed to police America."

Wallace's remarks were in a statement prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee. It resumed hearings today on one of the seven points in President Kennedy's civil rights program—a bill prohibiting racial discrimination in such public facilities as restaurants and hotels.

Wallace said Americans "are not going to comply with this type legislation," and he labeled the rest of Kennedy's civil rights program "equally abominable."

"A President who sponsors legislation such as the civil rights act of 1963 should be retired from office," Wallace said, predicting that Kennedy will learn in the 1964 election "it is not politically popular to send (troops) to Alabama and Mississippi."

Kennedy ordered federal troops into Oxford, Miss., last fall after rioting broke out on the University of Mississippi campus when a Negro enrolled in the school. He sent federal troops to bases near Birmingham in May following racial violence in the Alabama city.

Two Dead In Fire

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two persons died today in a home fire in eastern Jackson County.

The victims were Mrs. Esther Angeline Covington, 51, and a son, Steve, 9.

Another son, Gerrold, 16, was admitted to a hospital here with critical burns.

The father, Owen Covington, 52, and three other sons, Luther, 18, Larry 13 and Gary, 11, escaped.

Main Subject Tonight

Police 'Manual' To City Council

The adoption of a Rules and Regulations manual for the police merit system appears to be the main subject to be taken up at the regular meeting of the Sedalia City Council tonight.

Other items that may come up on the Council floor are the Police Merit System rules concerning hiring of new police officers, the hiring of an assistant Chief of Police, the promotion of police officers now on the force and the continuation of the local civil defense program.

A glimpse into the Rules and Regulations manual was brought out at a meeting of the Police Officers' Association Saturday morning, when the Rev. Roland Cooper and William F. Brown furnished a copy of the proposed rules and regulations for study by the officers.

Most of the rules and regulations in the proposal will be recommended for adoption by the Council, it was brought out at the Friday meeting, but some will not be recommended at this time. Brown and Cooper are members of the Police Personnel Board who worked up the manual.

At the last Council meeting, rules concerning hiring and promotions of the police officers were presented to the council members, but were not brought out in open discussion. These proposals were taken under study, and it was presumed they would be discussed at a closed meeting later on. At the closed meeting, it was learned, other matters took so much time the Merit System recommendations were not brought up.

Mayor Studer said both of the Merit System items will probably be discussed tonight.

The civil defense matter was discussed in the closed meeting, and it was generally decided to approve the $3,000 recommended budget item for civil defense. The item was recommended in the annual budget presented at the last council meeting, but was held for further study.

A proposal to purchase property and construct an additional off-street parking lot at Second and Ohio, offered at a previous council meeting, is still under study, and the mayor said it might be brought up at the meeting tonight. This is unlikely, however, Mayor Studer said, because a plan to engage the engineering firm of Hare & Hare to make an up-to-date study, with recommendations concerning the need for additional parking lots in downtown Sedalia, is under consideration.

The mayor added that a scheduled meeting with representatives from Hare & Hare July 29 has been postponed, with the new date set tentatively for July 30.

13 Killed In Missouri On Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen persons were killed in Missouri traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday.

Three died early Sunday in a collision one mile east of Gerald on M50.

They were Otto Wehmer, 68, Gerald; Mrs. Ruth Mary Schmidt, aged 65, Niles, Mich., and Johnny Blankenship, 19, of rural Cuba, Mo.

Three died Saturday in a two-car crash three miles south of Appleton on U.S. 61.

The dead were Mrs. Thelma Childers, 40, her son Ronald, 24, both of Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Irene Clingsmith, 47, of Oakridge. Two others were injured.

John Lloyd Strange, 19, of Eldon, Mo., was fatally injured Sunday when his car ran off the road on a curve, hit a utility pole and overturned twice. The accident occurred on M-52 about 7 miles west of Eldon.

Bernard Joseph Atchison, 27, of Maryville, a state engineer inspector, was fatally injured Saturday in a car-truck collision on U.S. 71 about nine miles south of Maryville.

Sp 50C Daniel Fizz, 20, of Herrin, Ill., working at the aeronautical map and chart center in St. Louis died Saturday when his car crashed into a tree in St. Louis.

Mrs. Ida Freiert, 74, of St. Louis, was killed and her husband Harry, also 74, was seriously injured, in the collision of their car and a tractor-trailer truck in St. Louis.

A three-car collision on U.S. 61 one mile south of Sikeston killed Earnest Young, 38, St. Louis, and Mrs. Bernice Spradling, 55, Kewanee, Mo., Saturday.

Two persons were injured.

Mrs. Jane Manning Riddle, 57, of St. Louis County, was killed when her car hit a bridge and plunged into a creek off U.S. 61 in Ste. Genevieve County.

Robert Parrish, 29, who was apparently struck by a car last Tuesday while riding a bicycle near Springfield, died Saturday in a Springfield hospital.

Damrill Paroled After One Month

*Kent Damrill, 35, 804 West 16th, sentenced to a one-year jail term in Magistrate Court in Clinton, June 21, has been paroled to the custody of his parents here after serving less than a month in the Henry County jail.

Damrill was convicted on a charge of supplying liquor to minors after he had been picked up in Windsor in company of three underage persons in possession of some gin and beer.

The judge of the Henry County court paroled Damrill on condition of good behavior upon the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Floyd L. Sperry, Jr.

GOP Fight for Nomination

ANATOLI'S NOTE—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has declared that strategy followed by partners of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona would destroy the Republican party. Jack Bell, veteran public political writer, examines the governor's attack and analyzes its import.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has challenged Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to an all-out liberal vs. conservative fight for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

In a policy statement tantamount to announcing his candidacy, the New York governor said Sunday the Goldwater strategy is to try to weld conservative, Southern and Western support while writing off Northern states. This, Rockefeller said, "would not only defeat the Republican party in 1964 but would destroy it altogether."

Rockefeller said it was incredible that the Republicans would offer such an alternative to the "unprincipled opportunism that has captured the Democratic party."

He added: "That alternative will never be found in a party of extremism, a party of sectionalism, a party of racism, a party that disclaims responsibility for the population before it, with some success to warm up the conservatives to his cause by making what many of his listeners called "good Republican speeches" in the Midwest.

But the New York governor's attack on what he said were extremist views in the party indicated he has decided his best chance for the nomination is to champion the liberal viewpoint and sharpen his division with the conservatives.

This seemed to leave open the middle ground where Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Sunday Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., comes closest among possible presidential nominees to representing the party consensus.

Taft, son of the late conservative senator from Ohio who lost the presidential nomination to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, said on a television program that neither Rockefeller nor Goldwater represents such a consensus.

Rockefeller said the Republicans cannot build power "on the outlawed base of segregation."

Goldwater, Morton and GOP National Chairman William E. Miller have denied there is any intention to offer segregationist candidates in the South.

Rockefeller is expected to follow up his opening assault at the national governors' conference in Miami Beach, Fla., next week as a champion of civil rights.

Taft joined Rockefeller in differing with an old Goldwater thesis—that the Republicans might as well give up trying to get the Negro vote and concentrate where the political hunting is better.

The congressman said that while he doesn't believe the GOP can win a majority of Negro votes, it can increase its strength among them because it has offered more than the Democrats in the civil rights field.

In emphasizing his division with the conservatives, Rockefeller called on Republicans to unite in opposition to "the radical right, lunatic fringe," which he said is trying to take over the party.

He denounced the John Birch Society's viewpoint and criticized as a form of totalitarianism the procedures of the recent San Francisco convention of the National Young Republicans Federation where delegates whooped it up for Goldwater.

Rockefeller said the Republicans cannot build power "on the outlawed base of segregation."

Goldwater, Morton and GOP National Chairman William E. Miller have denied there is any intention to offer segregationist candidates in the South.

Rockefeller is expected to follow up his opening assault at the national governors' conference in Miami Beach, Fla., next week as a champion of civil rights.

11 More Bills Are Signed By Dalton

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton signed 11 bills into law today, including one transferring $199,507,608 to the state school moneys fund for supplying state aid to public schools.

Dalton noted the bill carried his recommendation plus $10,166,961 to finance a higher state aid formula under the school foundation program. The bill authorizing the formula has not been signed.

The governor said the law bars him from reducing any school aid appropriation but he still could veto the higher formula bill if he should decide it was too generous at this time.

He also signed two of his recommended traffic safety bills, one making drunken driving a graduated felony and the other requiring safety belts in all new cars beginning with the 1965 models.

The drunken driving bill will make it a misdemeanor on the first two convictions but on the third the penalty could be either a misdemeanor or a felony with the maximum sentence five years in prison.

The Legislature failed to pass another of his traffic safety recommendations, calling for chemical tests of any suspected drunk driver.

These other bills were signed and will become effective Oct. 13: Increase the pay of the real estate commission secretary from the present $3,600 to $6,500.

Require optometrists to attend educational seminars annually as a condition of renewal of their licenses.

Exclude from the need of paying a municipal license fee all Christian Science practitioners, certified public accountants, dentists, chiropractors and chiroprists.

Allow the state Board of Healing Arts to issue temporary medical licenses.

Allow recorders of deeds to destroy all old blood test records submitted by applicants for marriage licenses. Also to be destroyed would be old chattel mortgage indexes and certain magistrate court records.

Increase the annual salary of the director of personnel from $7,500 to $10,500.

Establish the first Missouri State Capitol Restoration Commission to aid in rebuilding the old Capitol in St. Charles and to help plan for Missouri's 150th anniversary celebration in 1971.

Police Reports

Two stolen bicycles taken Sunday were found later in the evening by Officer Robert Vogler in the 200 block of East Second.

C. S. Arnest, 501 West Broadway, had reported his son's bike stolen from beside the Liberty Park swimming pool.

Danny Van Dyne, Homestead Trailer Park, was the owner of the other bike.

A blue overnight case found at the north shelter house at Liberty Park was brought to the police station at 5:30 p.m. Sunday by Wendell Lambert, Homestead Apartments.

Charles Ratje, 511 South Engineer, reported to police late Saturday night that the bottom of the glove compartment in his auto was cut out while parked in the 400 block of South Ohio. Nothing was reported missing.

Larry Hanna, 500 East 12th, reported to police at 11:50 p.m. Saturday that while his car was parked at the city lot at Third and Lamine the fan belt and both radiator hoses were cut. Gasoline was also siphoned out of the tank.

A potentially hazardous refrigerator with its door intact was reported to police Sunday by Willard Morris, city sanitation officer.

The refrigerator was located in the backyard of a residence at 215 West Seventh and on investigation police found the owners had left and the box was apparently abandoned.

Raymond Lewis, of the city traffic department, placed several wire bands around the box so it can't be opened.

The receiver from the pay telephone in the booth beside Sedalia Band & Trust in the 100 block of West Third was reported missing Monday morning. The receiver

Find Boy Dead From Alcohol, Drugs Sunday

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A 15-year-old boy was found dead in a hotel room Sunday and police said he apparently died from overdoses of alcohol and amphetamine.

He was Robert William McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Huffman of Kansas City. An autopsy will be performed today.

Police quoted a companion of the victim, Larry Lee Eriksen, 18, who lives at the hotel, as saying he and McGowan each took 12 amphetamine tablets and then drank a quantity of beer and wine. He said they bought the tablets from a stranger at Ninth and Oak about midnight Saturday.

Police booked three youths for investigation in the death. They are Eriksen, Charles W. Wyatt, 20, also of the hotel, and an unidentified juvenile.

Wyatt said about 2:30 a'clock Sunday morning McGowan asked to stay the night in the room because he had been drinking and was afraid he would be arrested if he tried to go home. He said he left the room Sunday morning, thinking McGowan was asleep, and returned Sunday afternoon to find him dead. Wyatt called police.

McGowan's parents said the youth was emotionally disturbed and had left the Ozanam Home for Boys early last month.

"He never drank before in his life, so far as I know," Mrs. Huffman said.

2 Americans Hurt; 63 Reds Are Killed In Saigon Battle

SIAGON (AP)—Two Americans were injured and 63 Communist guerrillas killed in a daylong battle described as the worst ever fought near Saigon between government and Red forces.

Military sources placed government casualties at 26 killed, and 51 wounded.

The two Americans injured were not immediately identified. Only skimpy details were reported on the battle, which occurred Saturday in Long An Province, 20 miles southwest of Saigon.

Military sources said the battle started when government troops in helicopters encountered a barrage of groundfire.

US to Train 80 West German Pilots

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Defense Ministry announced today the United States has agreed to train 80 West German pilots every year to operate Starfighters, mainstay of West Germany's atomic potential.

These will be the first German Starfighter pilots to be trained in the United States. West Germany does not have atomic warheads. Under American law, these must be kept in the custody of U. S. officers.

Passing of Pet Leaves Blind Woman Alone

Everyone who has a pet is always upset when something happens to it, but when you depend on a dog, like Mrs. Jeff Drake, 620 West Fifth, has done for the past 15 years; it is really a loss when the time comes the pet dies or must be put to sleep.

It was when they lived on the farm that her daughter brought in the pup she had found, just a little pup with nothing special to tell what the breed might be, but a little cuddly pup somebody had probably dumped, and it was trying desperately to find somebody to love it. That was 17 years ago, and they took him in and named him Rex.

The family loved the dog as people love their pets and two years later Mrs. Drake lost her eyesight. Rex sensed that something was wrong. He seemed to realize that she could not see, and so, without training, he became her seeing-eye dog. He was with her at all times, guiding her steps.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Drake moved to town, but although her daughter looks in on her often, she lives alone, and all felt safe because Rex was constantly watching. At night her grandson, Denny Thauheim stays with her, but throughout the day she was Rex's responsibility and he knew it. Rex, however, was beginning to get old and when he became ill the doctor advised that he be put to sleep. This was done this past week.

And so the little puppy that repaid the kindness he received many times over is gone and Mrs. Drake feels that part of her is gone, too, for now she must make her way with her cane alone without the faithful companionship of Rex.

Over here in this corner, or somewhere in this newspaper, with a maximum amount of regularity, we hope, will appear this ad.

And don't any of you start calling it a column . . . it's true we have tried our hand at any number of things, just as all merchants do, judging beauty contests, canning pickles, serving on committees, boasting the charms of our town to people who live in other cities while we are on buying trips, filling our store with the newest and smartest merchandise . . . and we think it might be fun to chat with you about it.

You can expect this in the form of a column; however, we do not pretend to be in the League with Dorothy Kilgallen, or Earl Wilson.

We just simply want to drop a few observations now and then on what goes on in the fashion world. Of course, if somebody makes headlines, we might contribute our two-cents worth regarding the matter, whatever it happens to be. But truthfully speaking . . . THIS IS AN AD . . . we have to pay for it . . . and we want the opportunity to talk to you every few days.

For instance, no doubt you have read about and seen pictures of the suits which will be worn to the moon. It has to carry enough oxygen to last for ten days, must be insulated for temperatures from 215 F. in the daytime to 250 below at night. Must be thick enough to protect one from 20 feet of dust and have room enough to carry food inside for several days.

We have always had a romantic feeling about the man in the moon and we don't think he is going to like this suit . . . let's face it . . . it will make one look a dozen times your normal size. And speaking of suits and sizes if you want figure flattery and smart good looks, just try on one of our new fall double-knit wools. The three-piece knits have that town look you love, and the one-piece knit dresses are so sleek you'll probably feel you have to have a knit suit and knit dress too.

We have hand-picked a wonderful collection on knits from six famous makers in a variety of size groups . . . for misses there are R&K and Saco . . . for juniors we have Gay Gibson and Butte Knits, and for junior petites we have Jonathan Logan and Petti. Whatever your size or choice of styles, we have a double-knit that will please you.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: A close friend, in my opinion, is making a serious mistake in bringing up her 4-year-old daughter. Please tell me if you think I should speak to her about it. My husband says I should mind my own business.

This woman waited 12 years for her first child. The little girl is beautiful and her mother doesn't let her forget it. When the child is asked her name she says, "My name is Debbie and I am beautiful."

Every Saturday afternoon the mother takes Debbie to the beauty salon for a manicure and a hair-set. When the child goes out in company her mother puts lipstick, rouge and eye make-up on her. I become awfully upset when I see this little kid all painted up. Several of my friends feel the same way. We can't understand why a mother would do this to her child. Shall I try to set her straight? — NAUSEA

Dear Nausea: A mother who would paint a four-year-old to look like a kewpie doll is so thoroughly kooked up that you can't reach her.

The real tragedy is that the youngster will in all probability be kooked up, too. It's unfortunate that children are available to anyone who is biologically able to produce them.

Dear Ann Landers: Ten years ago I was divorced and remarried. My present wife is a fine person and we get along well together. At the time of the divorce Charlotte and I thought it would be best to move away — far away — so I took a job in another part of the world.

Now, after all these years we are back in the old home town and this is what I am writing about. I saw my ex-wife for the first time in 10 years. She looks more beautiful than ever. Everyone in the community has a lot of respect for the way she has conducted herself since the divorce. She is still single.

I would like to take her to dinner, say about once a month. Nothing personal, you understand, just friendly. After all, we have a lot in common and I believe it's a sign of maturity when divorced people can treat each other in a civilized manner. I hope you'll

Big Jewelry Theft

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A burglar took jewelry valued at $2,050 from the home of Russell F. Schwetwe in suburban Clayton Sunday night. A preliminary inventory showed two sapphire rings, a diamond ring and a pearl necklace missing as well as a portable television set.

say O.K. because I believe she is lonely. — SIDE POCKET

Dear Pocket: What a peachy combination — she's lonely and you want to be friendly. You're angling for a re-run, Junior, and you know it. Why don't you and Charlotte go back to wherever you've been for the past 10 years?

Dear Ann Landers: Ours is a ritzy neighborhood. There are 12 families on both sides of the street. We all get along well, except for one couple which bugs us.

This pair refuses to join in even one sociable highball. Nobody expects them to get smashed out of their minds, we just resent their stuffy, uncongenial, rock-headed attitude. If they don't want to be one of the crowd why don't they stay home instead of making everybody uncomfortable by standing around without even a glass in their hands?

I'll bet you a pint of rye this letter will end up in your wastebasket because you're afraid to print it. — DOVER SOLES

Dear Soles: You lose, but don't send the rye. I'm another one of those stuffy, uncongenial, rock-headed types.

There is no evidence that your dry neighbors are interfering with your right to drink, so why don't you respect their right not to?

Catches Alligator In Fishing Contest

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Steve Hass, 13, has the prize catch of a fishing contest without the prize.

Steve, fishing at the west pond of the Kansas State Reformatory, hooked a two-foot alligator Saturday.

The catch caught the sponsors by surprise, but not Steve, who is from Fort Scott. He didn't throw it back. He took the alligator home with him.

Where the reptile came from or how it got into the pond is anyone's guess.

GOP Shoe on Other Foot

The late Robert A. Taft and Sen. Barry Goldwater are often mentioned in the same breath as the outstanding Republican conservative heroes of the past 25 years.

It is interesting, therefore, to compare their respective party positions with regard to presidential nomination prospects.

Taft, of course, began immediately after his re-election to the Senate in 1950 to organize for a 1952 nomination bid. He won early and widespread professional political support across the country.

This later stood him in good stead when he tangled with Dwight Eisenhower in a tough pre-convention struggle for delegates. Taft held enough strength to corral 500 of the needed 604 delegate votes on the only convention ballot.

Only toward the last days of the battle did numerous delegates wedded to Taft fall away from him, accepting grudgingly the argument that he could not win the election because of his conservative views.

With Goldwater at this moment the circumstances are quite different. To begin with, he is not actively seeking support at this stage. But even if he were, it would not be the same.

Curiously, Goldwater is far more warmly embraced as a man than the somewhat aloof Taft was. But there is much more warmth about Goldwater among the professionals.

Many, particularly in the large industrial states, start with a big question mark about his ability to win. They see him as having monumental difficulty in the big urban centers.

So, though they love him as they have never loved any prospective candidate in the last three decades, they hang back from giving him their open backing. They would delight to have him if they thought he could make it. But their doubts are deep.

Those who opposed Taft fought a long, hard fight to persuade many professionals that Taft was not a winner.

In 1963 the shoe is on the other foot. Those who want Goldwater have a similar difficult fight to persuade similar professionals that Goldwater can win.

Guest Editorial

Looking Backward

WALL STREET JOURNAL: The Watchdog's Bite.—The General Accounting Office keeps plugging away, spotting errors and waste in federal spending—just as the official watchdog of the public's funds should.

The other day, for instance, the agency reported that the military services over a five-year period had disbursed more than $100 million in overpayments to servicemen. The Pentagon says the GAO figures don't reflect the many cases already straightened out; in any event, the GAO figures that some $18 million can never be recovered, and it has suggested how to avoid repetition of such mistakes.

In another report, the GAO concludes that the government could have saved $148 million over five years by buying more and renting fewer electronic data machines, and that after five years there could be further savings at the rate of $100 million annually. In still another, it estimates the armed services could save $1 million yearly by making better use of existing military communications networks to send long-distance messages.

So the GAO undoubtedly saves money and could save a lot more. It could, that is, if others in government paid more attention to the watchdog's bark and less attention to new ways to bite the taxpayer.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Harriman, Nikita Respect Each Other

(Editor's Note: With the beginning of test ban talks in Moscow today, Drew Pearson awards the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Averell Harriman, U.S. under secretary of state.)

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—The U.S. diplomat who sits down with Russian and British delegates to negotiate a test ban agreement has had more experience with Stalin, Khrushchev, and the Russian people than almost any other American. He also has run the gamut of many jobs in the USA, from governor to cabinet member.

Averell Harriman was born with a silver spoon in his mouth, and critics used to say that otherwise he might have had difficulty feeding himself.

The first part of his life was devoted to polo ponies and Long Island society. The second part to public service.

He and Nikita Khrushchev are about as opposite numbers as you could find anywhere in the capitalist-Communist world. One is rotund and roly-poly. The other tall and lean. One is the son of a Ukrainian coal miner who left school at the age of ten to help his father in the mines. The other is a graduate of Groton and Yale, and instead of helping his father in a mine, inherited from his father a sizable chunk of the Union Pacific Railroad, part of the Illinois Central, and part of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

But for some strange reason the two like each other. Khrushchev once told me: "I found Ambassador Harriman a reasonable man. He and I once joked about his becoming my economic adviser. 'What kind of a job could you do for us?' I asked him.

"How much would you pay me? Would you give me a dacha?" Harriman asked, referring to the Russian country house. "If so, I'll take this one."

"OK, it's yours," I said. "Let's sign a contract."

"I'm still waiting for him to come to work," said Khrushchev.

This good-natured camaraderie between two tough representatives of two directly opposite political systems exists despite some clashes in the past.

Harriman Reverses Himself
Of all the Americans who had business with the Russians before the war, Harriman was in the lead—and with unfortunate results. One of his companies had purchased the manganese deposits of the Caucasus, which the Soviets canceled, with a long wrangle ensuing and no love lost on either side.

Harriman also owned 35 per cent of the Silesian-American Corporation in Poland, which controlled a large share of the world's zinc and was also seized by the Russians.

Despite these clashes, Harriman was sent to Russia as a war-time ambassador and proceeded to nag and goad Washington into speeding up the supply line to the Red army which helped turn the tide of battle at Stalingrad, and eventually the war. Regardless of past differences, Harriman knew that the key to victory was the Red army.

After the war, however, Harriman turned sour. He came back to the new Truman administration after the death of FDR to caution Truman against further cooperation. At that time, Truman faced two schools of advisers—one was led by Harriman, who believed in the straight-arm for Russia, the other by Henry Morgenthau, then secretary of the Treasury, who believed that the peace of the world depended on cooperation between the world's two most powerful nations.

Gradually, Harriman has come around to the point of view which he once opposed. He has made the transition partly because of changes inside the Soviet, the more liberal policies of Khrushchev, and partly because Harriman himself has changed.

Harriman is a slow starter. He did not get into public life until he was well over forty, and then he was extremely reticent. He dabbled diffidently in the NRA in the early days of the New Deal, became a friend of Harry Hopkins, accompanied FDR on the famed mid-Atlantic battleship meeting with Winston Churchill, later became ambassador to England, then to Russia.

A Youthful 71
It was as secretary of commerce under Truman that Harriman really began to develop. He showed great courage in combating McCarthyism, and considerable executive ability. He also served as ambassador for the Marshall Plan in Paris, later came back to run for governor of New York.

Close friends say that Averell's chief handicap in those years was his ambition to run for president. This colored his thinking, sometimes made him too cautious. He worried too much about political reactions.

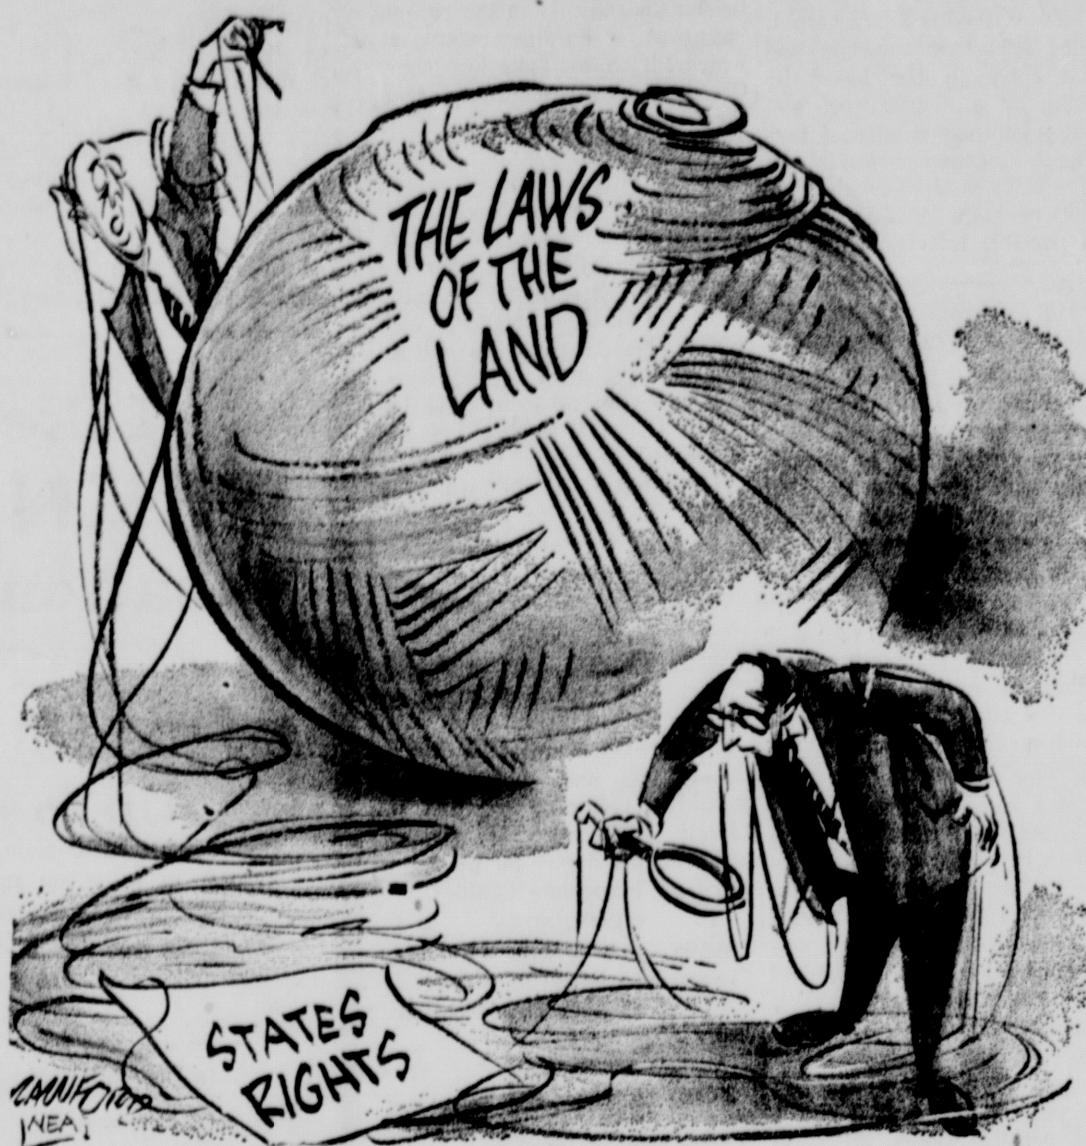

But as he approached 65, Averell gave up all ideas of running for president, and since then he has reached his prime. A slow starter in age as well as politics, Averell looks ten years younger than he is at 71.

In the first days of the New Frontier, John F. Kennedy didn't quite know what to do with Harriman. Here was a very young president, with an elder statesman who had been governor of New York, a member of the cabinet, and held about every job in the book. Kennedy doubted younger men, men he knew well. So he shunted Harriman off with the difficult job of settling Laos.

Privately, Harriman wasn't happy. But no one ever knew it, least of all Kennedy. And as time passed, the president got to know him, liked him, gained confidence in him. They may differ, but they have respect for each other, just as he and Khrushchev differ but have respect for each other.

In Moscow, Harriman can look back on a long vista of years and experiences that have told him that now is probably the last chance we will get to negotiate a test ban agreement. If this chance is lost, the poisoning of the earth's atmosphere will continue, the Red Chinese will get their own atomic bomb, and World War III may be inevitable.

No Excuse for Reds' Long-Windedness

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The efforts of the Russians and Red Chinese to explain their split would look like a farce in the use of language if the split itself did not have such immense significance for the future.

In their attacks on each other both sides were obviously writing for the history books to justify their positions. This was still no excuse for their long-windedness.

On June 14 the Chinese banged the Russians—particularly Premier Khrushchev—in a statement which took up four full pages when reprinted in an American newspaper. It was a scathing criticism of the Soviet Union.

Yet, it hardly mentioned the Soviet Union by name. Instead, it turned its scorn on "certain persons."

It ridiculed the Russians for accepting Western notions, condemned them as unrealistic, accused them of long and repeated hostility to Red China, and, in short, accused them of undermining world communism.

Over this past weekend the Russians replied in a 35,000-word open letter to "all Communist parties of the world." The Russians indicated the Red Chinese directly, thus demonstrating how much the split has widened.

This was a savage answer which accused the Red Chinese of being anti-white racists, of falsifications and distortions, of ingratitude for Soviet help and of undermining the unity of world communism.

In between the two documents the Russians and Chinese on July 5 opened talks in Moscow to settle their differences. The weekend publication of Soviet feelings showed how little the talks achieved.

In fact, the Soviet statement said the Chinese delegates to the talks were making the split worse. If that split—as it appears on the surface—could be summarized in a few paragraphs, this would be it:

1. Khrushchev, realizing the United States and Russia are so advanced in nuclear weapons that a war between them would eliminate both and much of the world besides, insists peaceful coexistence with the West is possible. The Red Chinese say it is impossible and that capitalism is aggressive and must be overcome by force. The Russians say the Chinese don't seem to have any idea what a nuclear war means.

2. Khrushchev isn't giving up hope of communizing the rest of the world. But he says this can be brought about peacefully. For instance: through internal efforts in individual countries and even through such devices as elections.

To this the Red Chinese say: nonsense. They insist that only revolutions can achieve world communism because the West wouldn't permit peaceful takeovers.

Actually, ill-will between the Russian and Chinese Communist parties goes back into the 1920s when Stalin dominated the Red Chinese—20 years before they took control—and almost got them wiped out by Chiang Kai-shek.

Other tensions have built up since the Chinese Reds drove Chiang out of mainland China in 1949 and took over the country. In addition, there is the ancient problem of nationalism—of rivalry—between the two forces.

On top of this, and perhaps as vital as anything in the split, is the fact that the Russians and Chinese are in two different stages of communism, the former far advanced, the latter just in the beginning stages.

Thus the Russians, with their developing prosperity, would have far more to lose than the Chinese who are still in the scratching stage. They can afford to be more venturesome than the Russians.

Because this is so, Khrushchev has reason to be less reckless than the Chinese, although he was reckless enough last autumn when he slipped his missiles into Cuba and brought the United States and Russia to the edge of war.

He is no less a revolutionary than the Chinese. He's just more sophisticated. There can hardly be any doubt—even among the Chinese—that Khrushchev will never stop trying his luck when and where he can. Cuba showed that.

He just doesn't want to stick his neck out, if he thinks it will be chopped off. If he does stick it out, as he did in Cuba, and knows he stuck it out too far, he'll pull it back and wait for another time.

Trouble Comes When Your Glands Fail to Produce

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D.

Q—What causes myxedema and is there a cure?

A—Myxedema may be caused by failure of the thyroid to put out enough of its hormone (thyroxine) or of the pituitary to put out enough thyroid stimulating hormone (thyrotropin). The first cause may occur following thyroiditis, exposure of the thyroid to large doses of X-ray, or surgical removal of more than seven-eighths of an overactive thyroid. The second cause may occur following tumors or other diseases of the pituitary.

The victim will have a dull, apathetic expression; rough, dry skin; puffy eyelids; dry, brittle hair which may be prematurely gray; slurred speech with a husky voice; slowing of mental and physical activity; and in women prolongation of the menstrual period.

A—In this condition there is a change in the type of cells found in the spleen. The spleen is usually enlarged and contains myeloid cells of the type found in bone marrow. Since these findings do not tie in with any known disease, and because those who have it may have either normal or abnormal bone marrow, this condition is not considered to be a disease in itself but merely indicative of some disease of the blood-forming organs.

Agonogenic means of unknown cause. Some persons with this condition have anemia. Some have jaundice, and some have poisoning due to exposure to such solvents as benzene and carbon tetrachloride. Your husband should have a thorough study to determine any possible cause and any changes in other organs. Treatment would depend on the results of such a study.

Dialogue from Washington

By VERA CLAY

The railroads are the workhorses of the country and get treated that way. Hardly anybody gets excited over a trainride anymore. In fact, hardly anybody rides a train. Practically everybody (90 per cent) goes by private car, as if you didn't know.

The rest of the traveling is done by air (4.5 per cent), by bus (2.6 per cent) and by rail (2.9 per cent). This means that the choo-choo train is looked upon as a relic by a generation accustomed to seeing astronauts zip around the world.

Trains as we all know, usually seem to be late, dirty and anything but streamlined. The last ones to get any consideration from the railroads are the few passengers who are left; the railroads and passengers have been griping at one another for years—the ticket holders claiming no service and the railroads screaming their heads off about their continuous deficit. Both sides have a legitimate case when all the facts are marshaled and examined.

Yet, let there be even an off-chance of a railroad strike and the country goes into a tizzy—the President moves in—heads are knocked together—and the railroads keep going; if they didn't we would be in a bad way in spite of all the figures to the contrary.

We can be as much as we please about the railroads, they still, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission, handle 43 per cent of all the freight traffic in the country—and this is no small chunk of freight. It would be noticeable if your orange juice didn't show up at the breakfast table or the slab of steak wasn't at the meat counter in time for the evening cookout.

Let's not relegate the railroads to the Toonerville Trolley junk heap yet. They forged the way for the great economic growth of our country and have been our lifeline more than once. They gave us "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "Casey Jones," an indigenous folklore, swashbuckling millionaires (Averell Harriman who is off to Moscow is the son of one of them), Pullman cars, the roundhouse and that most glorious of all machines: the magnificent iron horse, the locomotive.

Three cheers for the jet age but let us tip our hats to the railroads and all who have had a part in the great railroad romance.

Mom's On the Ball, for Sure

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—Baseball time is here and bats and gloves have come out of mothballs. My 16-year-old son handed me a baseball that looked as though it had been through two wars. The stitching was all broken, and some of the stitch holes were completely bare. Otherwise, the ball was good.

I took about four yards of green (you can use any color) crochet thread and two sewing needles with eyes large enough to put the double strand of thread through.

I stripped a few holes at a time of the worn threads, so as to keep the baseball casing intact.

With the holes already made, the sewing was easy. Sew just as if you were lacing a shoe, first one needle and then the other. Pull the thread firmly after every two holes.

After you completely close all the holes, run one of the needles back underneath the stitches for about an inch. Run the other needle the opposite way under these stitches. This avoids having to make knots. Then cut the threads off.

The prize for your labor is "Mom, even the other kids say this lacing is better than new. Lasts longer, too."

MRS. A. E. T.

DEAR POLLY—When the material part of the zipper on the side of a garment, especially children's jackets, starts to fray and has "strings" around it, I put clear nail polish on the material.

This hardens the threads and seals them back smoothly. The treatment lasts quite a long time, and can be repeated. It works better if done as soon as threads begin to show wear.

MARY ANN

DEAR POLLY—I buy pretty, flowered washcloths in the color a room is painted and put them over door knobs. A rubber band will secure the cloth to the knob. The result is a door knob that hits the wall silently. The covering can be removed, laundered and put back on.

MRS. W. M.

DEAR POLLY—Attach a paper towel rack, with towels, to one end of an outdoor table. This is very handy for keeping barbecue items and grills clean.

MRS. D. M. W.

GIRLS—If you wished a somewhat less conspicuous cover, a circle of plain fabric, the color of the door, could be drawn in tightly with an elastic band to make a knob cover. Corduroy, velvet or anything on the soft side would be best.

Thursday, July 18 — 9:45 a.m. to 3 p.m., Missouri Livestock Association Annual Meeting, Columbia.

Thursday evening, July 18 — 8 p.m., 4-H Livestock Judges at University Extension Center.

Friday, July 19 — Sunday, July 21, 30th Annual Missouri State Fair Conference, University of Missouri, Columbia.

Saturday, July 20 — 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Tomato Field Day, New Franklin.

Tuesday, July 23 — 6 to 8 p.m., Farm Bureau Livestock Committee Bar-B-Q, Fair Grounds.

Tuesday, Aug. 13 — (Tentative) — Hog Tour to Lafayette County.

Friday, Sept. 6 — Annual Swine Day, University of Missouri, Columbia.

Spray Your Grasshoppers, Now!

The grasshopper situation becomes more threatening each week. As the hoppers increase in size, the damage increases proportionately. The majority of the hoppers are still in the nymphal stage. However, increasing numbers of the small, migratory adult are noticed each week.

We had a complete story of about every phase of grasshopper control in last week's farm page. If you still have that issue around, you can cut it out and save it. If you do not, you probably could get an extra copy at the newspaper office.

If your pastures need spraying, both for grasshoppers and weeds, the two materials are compatible and can be mixed together in the same solution.

We have already had several reports of serious damage from grasshoppers. One lady north of Beaman reported that the hoppers had eaten the tops completely from her onions and were starting on the onions themselves. Her bean plants, she said, were down to stubs. One man said that they had already taken four rows of soybeans.

I was down in the Camp Branch neighborhood recently and noticed some leaves of corn next to the road had been so badly eaten that it looked as though hail had struck.

Dosage rates which we are now recommending are those for the small or nymphal grasshoppers. It will soon be necessary to increase dosages to the amounts needed to poison adult grasshoppers. When they reach that size, it not only takes more poison, but it is more difficult to get control.

Finally, be sure to use the right material such as Sevin or malathion on dairy pastures, toxaphene on beef cattle pastures, a heavy rate of malathion in the garden, Sevin or malathion on alfalfa, and dieldrin or aldrin only on fence rows and wasteland where no pasturing will be done or no forage removed.

Blister Beetles

The second generation of these beetles is now evident on Chinese elms. It may be necessary to spray them again. Spray with DDT at the rate of 2 tablespoons 50 per cent DDT wettable powder or 4 teaspoons 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water. That would be 2 pounds of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder or 2 quarts of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water. Neitzert Mowing Pastures

I met Raymond Neitzert of the Camp Branch neighborhood on the road with a tractor and mower the other day. He said he was on his way to mow some permanent pasture. Keeping permanent pasture mowed is one of the easiest and cheapest methods of controlling the weeds there. However, we see less and less of it done.

Recommendations are to mow pastures in June and August for best control. However, Raymond's is one of the first pastures I have noticed as being mowed.

As pastures are mowed, grasshoppers will probably be moving into fence rows and corn fields adjoining them. This means that the fence rows, at least, and possibly the entire pasture should be sprayed for grasshoppers before they do move into those valuable corn fields.

State Livestock Association Meeting, July 18

The Annual Meeting of the Missouri Livestock Association at Columbia on Thursday, July 18, appears to have a real worthwhile program. Registration is at 9:45 a.m. in the Student Union Building. The program includes "The Mid-Summer Livestock Outlook" by Glenn Grimes, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist; "Highlights of the 1963 Cattle Tour" by Cordell Tindall, editor of the Missouri Ruralist; "Your New National Livestock and Meat Board Program" by the general manager, Carl Neumann; and "What's Ahead for the Hog Business" by L. L. Stewart, Frankfort, Ind.

Carl Raines of northeast Pettis County has been one of the two directors from this area for the past two years and is up for reelection at the meeting the 18th. I plan to attend and will be glad to take someone along if they want to ride.

Hog Tour Tentative

The County Swine Improvement Committee, including Lynn Waggoner, chairman, Bernard Dove, vice-chairman, and Matt Green, secretary, met last Monday evening to make tentative plans regarding the county's annual hog tour. The same buses used last year are available on Tuesday, Aug. 13, and the tour will probably be made to Lafayette County. Plans are to shorten the time of the tour in that we will leave at 7:30 a.m. but try to return by the middle of the afternoon. Tickets will be available at the University Extension Center and from active hog producers as soon as details have been completed.

Poultry Research Meeting

Registration for the Poultry Research Field Day on Tuesday, July 16, is at 9:30 in the Poultry Building. The morning program will include a general review of the Poultry Department's research program. Following a chicken barbecue at noon, a visit to the south Poultry Farm will be made by bus. The Rocheford Turkey Research Farm will be dedicated and turkey research now in progress will be reviewed. One of the new buildings at the research farm for turkeys is 48 feet by 208 feet.

Forty Ton of Alfalfa in Eight Years

I was visiting with Bob Longan of just west of Sedalia regarding reseeded and top dressing alfalfa. Our normal recommendation for top dressing is 400 pounds of 0-10-30, which is supposed to return to the soil the phosphate and potash removed by 3 ton of hay per acre. Some seasons some persons have taken as high as 6 ton per acre from their fields and Bob was telling me that they had figured in eight years they had taken close to 40 ton per acre from this particular field.

The 400 pounds of 0-10-30 costs approximately $10. Even 3 ton of hay would be worth $60 to $75 and that is a pretty good trade in anyone's book. If you do get 5 ton of hay per year, to maintain your balance you would need to apply about 600 pounds of 0-10-30.

Yeast Wheat Makes 72 Bushels

The best wheat yield I have heard about was on a 12 acre field of Tom Yeater's on his dad's farm which weighed out over the scales at 72.14 bushels per acre. Part of the field was idle last year and the rest in silage corn. It was limed and rocked in 1962 and had 200 pounds of 15-10-10 used at planting time. M.U. to Enter CD Education Field

CATTLE GUARD—This concrete cattle guard was recently poured on the farm of George R. Green (former Henry Lamm farm) just southeast of Sedalia. This guard is at the fence into the lot around the buildings. Another one will be poured soon at the public road, 1,000 feet to the west. Those in the picture who did the pouring include (left to right): Mr. Green, Carl Dittmer, Douglas Green and Leonard Siegel. This guard is 8 feet wide, 12 feet long and 18 inches deep. It requires 1½ yards of concrete, 11 native oak 2x6's and about 75 feet of ¾ inch reinforcing rod. The forms are available, for rent, from the University Extension Center. The total cost to George for this guard, outside of labor, was $48.37. This included a $3.50 bulldozing bill to make a slight excavation in the gravel roadbed. The 2x6 rails need to be in place when the guard is poured but must be removed to salvage the forms. Pieces of fertilizer bags are usually wrapped around these 2x6's where they come in contact with the fresh concrete so they can be more easily removed. The forms need to be well lubricated with used oil before use for easiest removal.

Top Dress Pastures By Labor Day

A record number of Missouri farmers used fertilizer on grass last year. Reports received to date indicate that they are more than pleased with results, even though this has been a poor year for pasture and hay production.

If you are a livestock owner, and also produce cultivated crops, you may be interested in their experience with grass fertilization. Their results suggest that soil treatments can help both the

Can You Teach Farm Management?

A concise definition of farm management is using "what you have to get what you want."

Robert Rieck, an economist from the University of Wisconsin, has made an extensive study of decision making among farmers and concludes that Balanced Farming Agents "can and do" teach improved decision making. Rieck and another worker developed a test to measure decision making ability. They found, that on the average, farmers who rated high as decision makers made the most financial progress.

We still have room for a few members in our own Balanced Farming Association. The membership fee is $25 for a year. Applications can be made at the University Extension Center or to one of several group chairmen, including Jack Fowler, Bob Curtis, Philip Monsees or Paul Neitzert.

Farm Safety Week July 21-27

From July 21 through July 27 the 20th Annual National Farm Safety Week will be observed. A daily check sheet has been set up for that week. I am going to review them today and try to come back to them in detail next week.

They include: Sunday, Reverence for Life; Monday, Safety Begins at Home; Tuesday, Agricultural Chemicals; Wednesday, Prevent Falls; Thursday, Rural Highway Safety; Friday, Farm Machinery; and Saturday, Recreation Safety.

A recent fatal accident to a local 4-H'er emphasizes that, if livestock and crop phases of your farming operation.

In other words, fertilizer applied to established pastures means more pasture. It's one way you may increase livestock numbers. Or, if you prefer, it's a way to cut down pasture acreage while increasing the acres of cultivated crops.

Regardless of the approach you prefer the method used is the same. Here are some of the points farmers say you need to consider in grass fertilization:

1. Have the fertilizer on the grass about Labor Day.

2. Use a fertilizer or fertilizers which will supply nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

3. If lime is needed—top dress the field with agricultural limestone.

4. Use enough fertilizer to do the job, as much as you use for a high yield of grain is usually a must.

"The Early Bird Gets the Worm" is an old saying that pretty well fits a grass fertilization program. Applying the fertilizer early can increase your profits. That's why Labor Day is a good date to shoot for. The reason, of course, is Missouri weather. Normally some rain falls and there is a drop in temperatures the last of August or early September. Cool season grasses start growing again during this period. This growth will be stimulated by the fertilizer and will produce fall and early winter grazing with a saving on winter feed.

In addition to having the material on hand, don't be around water without a life preserver.

State Fire Conference

I have just received a folder regarding the above conference. Registration is at 9 a.m. on Friday, July 19, and the programs on Saturday and Sunday also start at 9 a.m. Topics to be discussed include: Municipal Liability for Fire Protection; Fire Fighting Tactics; Care and Maintenance of Pumps; Automatic Fire Alarms, Handling and Use of Ladders; Fighting Fires with Hazardous Chemicals; and a Fire Prevention Quiz.

Inquiries, including requests for additional reservation forms should be made to Dr. Amos J. Snider, Assistant Dean, 124 Whittem Hall, University of Missouri, Columbia.

Tomato Field Day July 20

The annual visit to the tomato plots at the Missouri Horticulture Farm at New Franklin will be held Saturday, July 20. There are two sessions, one at 10 a.m. and one at 1:30 p.m. New Franklin is on Highway 5, just north of Boonville.

To be seen will be 85 varieties of tomatoes, including those from 8 countries and 11 states. You will also see promising new varieties developed at the Missouri Experiment Station. If you have tomato problems, take them with you. They will try to help you with them.

Water Important to Gardens

Water is one of the most important "ingredients" for a successful garden. Admittedly, there is nothing better for your garden than a good, slow, soaking rain. But you know that, during July, August and September, this type of rain is rather rare.

We do experience a number of local thundershowers during the summer months, but they usually cover a small area and dump a lot of moisture in a short time. Most of this moisture runs off, rather than soaking into the soil.

So it is not uncommon for a particular area to go two, three or four or more weeks without effective moisture. When high temperatures accompany this moisture deficiency, gardens soon suffer from a moisture shortage.

A moisture shortage certainly reduces yields. It lowers quality and may result in such physiological disorders as blossom end rot of tomatoes. Many gardens have literally burned up during these dry, hot periods.

Vegetables contain a lot of water. Cucumbers are 96 per cent water, cantaloupes and tomatoes, 94 per cent. Watermelons and green beans, 92 per cent. Even the sweet potato contains 69 per cent water. And vegetable plants transpire great quantities of water during their growth processes.

How than can you meet the problem of providing adequate water for your vegetables? There are two ways. Irrigation and mulching. It is best if you use both. Irrigation alone is sufficient. Mulching alone is helpful, but may not be sufficient during prolonged drouth periods.

A mulch really does two things. It keeps down weeds and prevents surface evaporation of moisture. Weeds compete with your vegetables for moisture. A good mulch will prevent weed growth, thus providing your vegetables with all the moisture available in the root zone. Since an appreciable amount of moisture is lost by surface evaporation, a mulch will greatly reduce this moisture loss.

Availability and cost of mulching materials must be considered. Remember too, that mulches turned under at time of fall plowing add organic matter to your soil.

The only sure insurance against drouth is some type of water for irrigation. If your garden is located below a farm pond, that water can be used for irrigation. Wells might afford another source of water for irrigation. Water might also be pumped from small streams.

Most of us, however, have to rely on municipal water plants for our source of water. This water is perfectly safe for use on garden vegetables. The small amount of chlorine used to purify city water for drinking will not harm your vegetables. How much water to use for irrigation during drouth periods will vary from garden to garden. It is primarily dependent upon the depth and character of your garden soil, type of vegetables grown, and temperature.

As a general rule of thumb, your garden will need between 1½ to 2 inches of water a week during July, August and September. If you use a good mulch this amount can be cut in half.

There are several methods of applying water. Rotary sprinkler systems are excellent. You can water your plants any time of the day or night. Watering in mid-afternoon will cause no "burning" of the foliage or otherwise harm the plants.

If your garden is located on a gentle slope, trench or ditch irrigation is excellent. Soaker hoses are ideal for watering vegetables. Whatever method you use to

Many Become Ill After Church Picnic

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An undetermined number of people have become ill following a church picnic Sunday evening in suburban Creve Coeur.

One doctor reported he treated 16 persons for staphylococcus food poisoning. He said all attended a chicken supper at the St. Monica Catholic church.

One person was admitted to St. Louis County hospital and nine others were treated at St. Joseph Hospital in St. Charles, Mo., for the same ailment. None of the victims was in serious condition.

Creve Coeur authorities said the source of the food poisoning was uncertain. More than 1,000 persons attended the church supper.

A number of local drug stores remained open during the night Sunday evening in suburban Creve Coeur.

During the next decade, some $50 billion will be spent on civilian and military space programs in the United States.

But They Continue Wins

Desperate Plight For the Yankees

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Consider the desperate plight of the New York Yankees.

They've been forced to use the likes of Hector Lopez and John Blanchard in the outfield in place of injured super-stars Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris.

They've pressed their aging coach, Yogi Berra, into duty as catcher and pinch hitter.

They've had to put a youthful left-hander named Al Downing straight from the minors into their front-line pitching rotation.

But, somehow or another, the Yankees have struggled into a 6½-game edge in the American League—which is quite an edge this time of the season, even for the perennial pennant winners.

The Yankees pushed into their biggest lead of the year Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over their favorite opponents, the Kansas City Athletics.

A 14-hit attack led by Lopez, Berra and Blanchard powered the Yankees to an 11-6 victory in the opener, while Downing's four-hit pitching and the slugging of Elston Howard and Tom Tresh won the second game 5-0.

The Boston Red Sox kept their slim hold on second place in a split at Los Angeles, winning the second game 5-0 after the Angels took the opener 11-8. Chicago's third-place White Sox divided with Baltimore, nipping the Orioles 3-2 on Nellie Fox's clutch two-run single in the ninth inning following a 6-3 setback in the first game.

Minnesota unloaded a barrage of home runs and swept Cleveland 5-3 and 8-2.

The Detroit-Washington doubleheader was rained out.

Helpful Act Costs Kansan His Life

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A helpful act cost John W. Pietze his life Sunday. He drowned while swimming after some water skis.

Pietze, 24, of Cheney, Kan., had helped Julietta Elderton, a water skier, into his boat when she fell in Lake Afton, then went after her skis.

He had been towing Miss Elderton. She was unable to operate the boat and drifted away. The body was recovered.

Ice Defeats Adco; Rotary Downs Elks

Ice froze out Adco, and Rotary buried Elks in an avalanche of runs in the Little League majors Saturday night. The games played Saturday had been rained out Friday night.

The first game saw Ice take an 11-4 win over Adco, giving the Ice boys a nine win, three loss record. Ronnie Mock was the winning pitcher for Ice, with Wayne Goosen chalking up the loss.

The score was 23-1 as Rotary trounced Elks in the second game in the majors. Steve Wanserski took the win for Rotary, while Steve Phillips marked down the loss for Elks.

"A" league action saw Elks whip Rotary 11-8. The two teams are now tied in the standings, both playing .500 ball. Dennis Zimmerman was the victorious hurler for Elks. Terry Sinn was the losing pitcher.

In last week's "C" league play Rotary "C" defeated Kiwanis 16-13. It was the first season loss for the Kiwanis C's. The winning pitcher was Charles Staley, with George Bain taking the loss.

Ice put over 11 runs and Adco only one in the second "A" game. Kent Cordry took the win, while Fred Bodenhamer was the losing hurler for Adco.

The "B" and "C" results were available in time for publication in Sunday's edition.

No Repeat Seen For Bob Charles

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bob Charles, the lanky New Zealander who became the patron saint of left-handers everywhere when he won the British Open, can't see himself repeating the trick in the National PGA here this week.

Charles arrived Sunday night, weary from 72 holes of pressure golf in two days during which he dropped about six pounds from his already spare frame.

"I don't think I'll have much chance here," said the only southpaw ever to win a major golf championship. "The weather was very good in England and now I must try to adjust to the Texas heat. Also, I have to adjust from the small English ball to the American ball and I'll be playing on a new course. It's quite a combination to beat."

But, Charles said "Golf is like picking horses — you never can tell." He said he planned to give it all he has and he figures his game is suitable to the long, narrow fairways and big greens of Dac Country Club course, which measures 7,046 yards and has a 36-35-71 par.

"Winning the British Open became an endurance contest more than a test of golf," said Charles. "Phil Rodgers (who Charles beat in a playoff) felt the strain more than I did in the last 18 holes."

Charles said he didn't think there should have been 36 holes in the playoff although this is customary for the British Open. "It's too much strain on the players; I think 18 holes is sufficient."

Charles beat Rodgers by eight strokes in the British Open playoff, shooting par 140 on the 36 holes while Rodgers was taking 148. They had tied at 277 for 72 holes.

The 27-year-old left-hander from Christchurch, New Zealand, was the first of the big name golfers to arrive for the PGA. Arnold Palmer, the leading money-winner and favorite here, will come to town today.

Jack Nicklaus, the Masters champion; Julius Boros, the National Open champion, and most of the other big winners, also will come in today. Gary Player, the defending champion, won't appear until Tuesday. He went home to the Bahamas to get his family after playing in the British Open.

There will be 172 in the field when the PGA blasts off Thursday. Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich., won the Hot Springs Open Sunday to become the last to qualify for the tournament.

Merchants Win a Pair On Weekend

The Sedalia Merchants picked up two victories over the weekend—edging a strong Springfield Poindexter team 11-10 Saturday night and defeating Stockton 3-0 Sunday afternoon.

Bob Brown started on the mound for the Merchants against Springfield. He worked six innings, allowed three hits and struck out 10. Trailing 8-2 Springfield scored eight runs in the eighth when the Merchant pitcher walked eight men.

Jim Fall came on in relief to put out the fire and take the victory after the Merchants fought back with three runs in the ninth.

Bill Dey led the Merchant attack with three hits and Dick Horner produced the game winning hit in the ninth.

Shutout Stockton

The Stockton game Sunday afternoon came about when the scheduled game with Joplin was rained out.

Jim Fall, winner in relief Saturday night, hurled a masterful two-hitter blanking the Stockton team 3-0.

Stockton's hurler, Lambath, who shutout the Merchants earlier this season again pitched well, allowing only six hits.

Producing base hits for Sedalia were shortstop Dick Horner, who had 2-for-4, and Higgins, Fall, Hill and Moore, with one each.

The shortstop, Burns, and right-fielder, Dull, had Stockton's only two hits.

Next Game

The Merchants see action Tuesday night at Pleasant Hill. Departing time will be 6 p.m. from Broadway Lanes.

Bill Cook was the New York Rangers' top goal-getter each year from 1928 to 1934.

Tulsa Choice For Valley Leadership

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Pampered Tulsa is the choice of Missouri Valley Conference football coaches to repeat as champion, over the protests of Coach Glenn Dobbs.

"I don't see how we can be rated to repeat," Dobbs said at the annual meeting of Valley coaches Saturday. "We lost all of our line from tackle to tackle, all our centers and linebacks and our leading passer, Stu McBurnie."

Dobbs concedes "we will move the football fairly well."

Tulsa led the nation in passing last season at 199.3 yards a game with its pro-type offense. Four veteran ends return, led by John Simmons, 6-foot-3 senior who was No. 2 nationally in pass receiving. Jerry Rhone, a talented SMU transfer, who will be the No. 1 quarterback and Dobbs admits he's a good one. His fellow coaches point to 21 lettermen as reasons why his rebuilt line should be good enough to repeat.

Cincinnati and Wichita, both snake-bitten last year by numerous narrow setbacks, are considered to have the best chance of upsetting Tulsa. Close behind are new Valley member Louisville and North Texas State, both somewhat below last season's 6-4 win-loss level.

Chuck Stutley, Cincinnati coach, can look back on eight defeats by four points or less in the past two seasons. He calls this team his best and expects big things from strong-armed, fleet Brig Owens, transfer from Fullerton, Calif., Junior College and rated No. 1 quarterback for the Bearcats. Stutley also has Royce Starks, an all-conference half-back.

Chelo Huerta had disciplinary problems with a veteran team last season, his first as Wichita coach.

He is confident this season will be better, because 25 of his top 35 men were recruited by his staff.

Miller Farr is Wichita's best back. He averaged 30.2 yards on 11 kickoff returns last year and six others for 250 yards were nullified by penalties. Fred Bus and Steve Barilla are highly-rated veteran tackles.

Frank Camp, Louisville coach, thinks highly of Tom LaFramboise as a quarterback replacement for Johnny Giles but he is concerned about his offense and lack of experience. Ken Kortas, 6-foot-4 and 300 pounds, is team captain at tackle and an outstanding professional prospect.

Odus Mitchell lost his entire starting line at North Texas State and his passing game is again weak, but he concedes he has four running backs equal at any time in the league. The best is Dwan Bean, an all-conference full back.

Parker Wins Hobo; Breaks A Streak

Roy Parker, Sedalia, broke Wally Calvert's eighteen race winning streak in the Hobo event, a popular feature in Saturday night's races at Thunderbowl Speedway.

On a track somewhat slick after rain Friday, Parker took the lead and refused to relinquish it despite hard-pressing Calvert, previously the unquestioned hobo champ.

The fast time in "B" modified time trials was taken by Tom Corbin, Carrollton, with a blistering 17.96. Dave Gauldin, Malta Bend, and Tom Maycock, Sedalia, received extra money along with Corbin for being the three fastest in the "B" trials.

Roy Hibbard, Marshall, ran a fast 16.99 for first in the "A" modified time trials. Russ Hibbard, Slater, and Jim Rains, Marshall, took home extra money for being the fast "A" time triers along with Roy Hibbard.

In the "B" trophy dash, Tom Corbin, Carrollton, took first with a time of 1:14.10. Tom Maycock, Sedalia, was second; Bill Bollen, Carrollton, third; and A. J. Uttaut, Marshall, fourth. Moving along with a new GMC powerplant, Corbin had things "pretty well his own way," and took a three car lead, which he held to the checkered flag.

Roy Hibbard, Marshall, was first in the "A" trophy dash with a clocking of 1:09.18. Jim Rains, Marshall, was second; Russ Hibbard, Slater, third; and Bill Utz, Sedalia, fourth. Brothers Roy and Russ Hibbard had quite a battle in this race, with Roy Hibbard nosing out the win at the finish line.

Taking the "B" heat win with a time of 2:29.78 was Tom Corbin, Carrollton. Dave Gauldin, of Malta Bend, sped across second; Ernie Buso, Sedalia, was third in car No. 56; Don Hurd, Sweet Springs, was fourth; and Bill Bollen, Carrollton, fifth. Ernie Buso had the lead, only to see Dave Gauldin take over the lead position and then Corbin finally move across first. It was Corbin's second win of the night.

"A" heat was taken by Russ Hibbard, Slater, with no time recorded due to restarts of the race. Bill Utz, Sedalia, roared across second; Roy Hibbard, Marshall, was third; car number 33, driver's name not available, was fourth; and Kenny Austin, Sedalia, was fifth. Russ Hibbard put his foot on the accelerator and went low on the track to pass "Wild Bill" Utz in taking this heat. Bill Faulcker, Windsor, lost control of his car in the number one turn, reportedly hitting the fence head on. The car was not damaged enough to keep Faulcker out of the next race, however.

Tom Maycock, Sedalia, was first past the checkered flag in the "B" heat, with a time of 2:33.30. Dave Tracy, Higginsville, was second; Joe Knight, Sedalia, third; Gene Markes, Marshall, fourth; and A. J. Uttaut, Marshall, fifth. Maycock had his GMC powerplant wound tight when he passed Tracy to win this event. A. J. Uttaut and Leroy Huff, Sweet Springs, tangled on the back stretch, with the two cars reportedly going together into the infield. The two drivers got their cars untangled and continued the race as if nothing had happened.

The six lap "A" consolation heat was taken by Jim Rains, Marshall. Kenny Austin, Sedalia, was second; Harold Crombley, Marshall, third; and Don LaRame, Windsor, fourth. Rains roared away from the field in this heat, taking the lead in the first lap and holding it for the distance.

The first Hobo Race winner was Sedalia.

FINGER MAN—Nellie Fox stands on his toes to point a finger of scorn and disagreement in umpire Bill Kinnaman's face at Yankee Stadium in New York. The Chicago White Sox star didn't like the call on a close play on Clete Boyer at second base. He was ejected from the game.

Friendly Gun Kills

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A gun in the hand of a friend accidentally discharged Saturday and killed Mike Sanders, 5.

Walter Russell Wade, 15, told police he thought the gun was faulty, and would not fire.

Roy Parker, Sedalia, breaking an eighteen race winning streak by Wally Calvert, Sedalia, who placed second. Jerry Key, Sedalia, was third; and Don Cunningham, Windsor, fourth. In taking first, Parker received a standing ovation from the crowd at the speedway.

In this hobo race, Jerry Key's car lost a wheel and nosed into the fence, rolling onto its side. Bill Shelly, Sedalia, lost control of his hobo car and hit the wall in the number four turn. The wall at Thunderbowl is about five feet high, constructed of heavy timbers, and has dirt piled up outside the wall, but spectators were reported to have nevertheless been somewhat nervous about the possibility of one of these cars going over or through the wall.

The "B" Feature race was taken by Tom Corbin, Carrollton, with a time of 6:10.85. Second was Tom Maycock, Sedalia, with Dave Gauldin, Malta Bend, third; Don Hurd, Sweet Springs, fourth; and Gene Markes, Marshall, fifth. In taking the race, Corbin had his third win of the night, although he had little margin at the finish, with Maycock and Gauldin on his tail all the way.

The "A" Feature race was won by Russ Hibbard, Slater, with a time of 5:49.81. Bill Utz, Sedalia, came in second in this, the big race of the night. Roy Hibbard, Marshall, placed third; Jim Rains of Marshall, fourth; and Don Cooper, Sedalia, fifth. Bill Utz took the lead from Roy Hibbard in this race, only to witness Russ Hibbard passing him for the win. The lead changed five times in the race, but Russ Hibbard's car, which was leaking oil, stayed in the race and finished first.

Wally Calvert won the last hobo race by a car's length, with a clocking of 3:27.03. Roy Parker, who won the first hobo race, lost a wheel in the third lap to put him out of the race. Second in the race was Bo Baker, Columbia; third, Jerry Key, Sedalia; and fourth, Herb Petree.

Tables Turn For Dodgers' Boss Alton

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The last time the Los Angeles Dodgers made a trip through the East their usually mild-mannered boss, Walter Alton, got just a little snippy. Said he was tired of being asked when he was going to be fired.

That was a couple of months ago. The Dodgers were in fifth place and four games out.

The Dodgers are now on another Eastern swing. They have won seven straight, own the largest lead the National League has seen in two years—6½ games, their pitching is shaping up as the best in baseball and Walter is just as pleasant as can be.

No one is asking him when he's going to be fired.

The Dodgers extended their string 3-2 behind Johnny Podres Sunday in the rain-shortened first game of a scheduled doubleheader at Philadelphia. The second game was postponed.

The victory added a half game to the Dodger lead over second-place San Francisco, rained out in a scheduled doubleheader at Pittsburgh. It's the largest lead any team in the National has had since two years ago today when the Reds led the Dodgers by six games.

Houston extended the New York Mets' losing string to 15 games, 8-3 in a game that was halted by rain in the eighth. A scheduled second game after the Reds had won the opener 5-3. St. Louis romped to a 10-3 victory over Chicago, then lost 7-3.

Podres, a lefty on a comeback, now is 8-6 and teams with Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale to give the Dodgers perhaps the best front-line pitching in baseball. His triumph at Philadelphia was his fourth straight victory, all by one run.

Houston built a seven-run first inning around John Bateman's bases-loaded triple and coasted in against the hapless Mets. The game was called after Frank Thomas hit a two-run homer in the Met eighth.

Home runs by Marty Keough and Vada Pinson won the opener for Cincinnati and John Tsitouris, but the Braves rushed out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the nightcap and the Reds never caught up. Joe Torre's two-run double was the big blow.

Bob Shaw, who lost the opener as a starter, came on in relief to preserve the second game for Milwaukee after the Reds rallied for two runs in the ninth.

Card-Cubs split left St. Louis .001 ahead of Chicago in their struggle for 3rd place. The Cards got 16 hits, four by Dick Groat, scored four times in the first inning and romped in the opener.

Home runs by Ron Santo, Lou Brock and Ernie Banks won the second game for the Cubs. Santo also homered in the first game.

Strike Ties Up Ships In Italy
GENOA, Italy (AP)—A 24-hour longshoremen's strike idled this big north Mediterranean port Sunday, tying up 60 ships.

The dock workers' union called the walkout to protest what they called the "functional autonomy" of some companies that make their own loading and unloading arrangements outside the unions.

No Doubles Victories For Cards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals have yet to win both ends of a double-header this season. They failed for the tenth time Sunday but did manage a split with the Chicago Cubs, winning the first game 10-3, then losing the second, 7-3.

The western Missouri representative in the major leagues fared less well as the New York Yankees shelled Kansas City pitching for 24 hits in sweeping both ends of a twin-bill, 11-6, and 5-0.

The four games were witnessed by more than 60,000 fans, 29,776 in St. Louis and 31,215 in Kansas City.

St. Louis collected 16 hits in its first game victory. Dick Groat had four of the hits and drove in two runs. Ken Boyer contributed a three-run homer and Bill White scored three runs on two hits including a homer.

Ray Sadecki pitched the distance to record his first complete game victory since June 9. Glen Hobbie was the loser.

Ron Santo, Lou Brock and Ernie Banks homered to pace the Cubs to their second game victory.

Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel, both former Cardinals, combined to keep St. Louis' 9 hits well scattered. The victory went to Jackson. McDaniel came on in the seventh and allowed only one hit, walked no one and struck out three. Ron Taylor took the defeat.

Chicago remains in third place, one percentage point ahead of St. Louis.

There were only two bright moments for the A's. They scored four runs in the first inning of the first game on 5 walks, a sacrifice fly and a double by Doc Edwards. Then, Gino Cimoli hit a solo home run in the fifth.

The Yankees picked up single runs in the third, fourth and seventh innings, three in the fifth and five in the eighth. Hector Lopez and John Blanchard homered for New York.

Steve Hamilton got the victory in relief of starter Bill Stafford. Bill Fischer took the loss.

Al Downing shut out the A's in the second game on four hits.

Elston Howard led the Yankee hitting in the second game with three hits, including a home-run.

and three runs batted in. Tom Tresh scored the other New York runs, both on solo homers.

Orlando Pena was the loser. St. Louis plays the Cubs in an afternoon game today with Ernie Broglio stalling against Dick Ellsworth.

The A's will start Dave Wickenscham against the Yanks Whitey Ford, also in an afternoon contest.

Dow's Homer Sparks 11th For Chiefs

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs needed the impetus of Ernie Dow's seventh inning home run with two men on base to down Lexington 7-5 here Sunday night and wrap up their 11th consecutive win.

Lexington provided the division leading Chiefs a stubborn struggle until the seventh when Dow lofted his hit over the centerfield fence.

Don Wilhite took Sedalia's mound victory, but had to yield to Terry Fletcher. Wilhite hurled the first seven innings, allowed five runs, eight hits and fanned six.

Fletcher in the last two frames gave up no hits and struck out one.

The Chiefs produced their seven runs off a total of nine hits.

Losing pitcher for Lexington was Davies, who went all the way. Sedalia squares off against Lowry City at Liberty Park diamond Thursday night. Game time is 8 p.m.
